

The Columbia Basin Water Quality Monitoring Project (WQMP)
A Mainstreams project: Sponsored by Columbia Basin Trust since 2007

Slocan Lk. Stewardship Society

After nine years, Slocan River Streamkeepers took a hiatus, which allowed Slocan Lake Stewardship Society to become a partner group.

Field monitoring know-how

Laura Duncan, WQMP Coordinator, walks Silverton Stewards through field monitoring processes at Silverton Creek in April 2015.

Laura training East Shore Group

Friends of the Lardeau River opted out of WQMP, which made way for the East Shore Fresh Water Habitat Society in Crawford Bay. In just over a year this group has over 200 paid up members. Wow!

Elk River Alliance join

Elk River Alliance joined when the St. Mary Valley Residents' Association stood down after five years. The photo shows Laura training Elk River members to install continuous temperature loggers.
